OBITUARY

Joseph Hutchins. Former chairman of the Columbia republican town committee and prominent in republican party circles died Friday afternoon at St. Joseph's hospital in Willimantic, following an illness which resulted from a automobile accident several weeks ago.

Mr. Hutchins was born at Poland Springs, Me., Dec. 2, 1841. He was the son of Dr. Asa Hutchins and Eliza F. (Armstrong) Hutchins. He came to Columbia in 1882 at the age of 41 and lived there ever since. After completing his education in the Columbia schools, he taught school a few winter terms, there but soon engaged in the book selling business. About 1875 he bought a farm north of the "Green" and made a home for his mother and three sisters, his father having died several years before.

He early united with the Columbia Congregational church and all his life has been a liberal supporter of the church and Sunday school, having been the superintendent for seventeen years.

In politics he was a staunch republican and an efficient party manager, having for many years been chairman of the republican town committee. It was during his administration that the town grew from a decided democratic town to a republican stronghold.

For the past ten years Mr. Hutchins retired from active business, either on his farm or in public matters, for with increasing years his physical faculties became impaired.

He leaves one sister, Miss Ida A. Hutchins, formerly a teacher in the Rockville high school, who resided with him, two nephews, Representative Henry B. Hutchins and Lester J. Hutchins, and one niece, Miss Josephine Hutchins all of Columbia.

Mrs. Claude Cheesman. Mildred Cheesman, wife of Claude Cheesman of Sixteenth street, New London, died Friday morning at a Norwich hospital. She was 74 years old and had been a patient at the hospital for several weeks.

WEDDINGS

Campbell-Kisport. At the parsonage of the Greenville Congregational church there was a very pretty wedding at 10 o'clock Saturday evening, Feb. 6, the parties consisting of Joseph T. Campbell and Miss Elizabeth Kisport, both of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles H. Richards, pastor of the church. The bride was appropriately groomed in a traveling suit of dark blue tulle with hat to match. The bride is a very member of the Greenville Congregational church and is a very successful teacher of a young men's class in the Sunday school. The superintendent is Rev. Charles H. Richards. Upon return from their wedding trip they will occupy the fine new residence, already furnished, at the corner of Second and Prospect streets.

McDonald-Woodward. Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Woodward of No. 26 Spaulding street, announce the marriage of their youngest daughter, Carrie B. Woodward to Milton McDonald of Jersey City, N. J.

The bride has been employed at the Grant Co. store in Bridgeport for the past year. The groom is a traveling salesman. The wedding took place in Bridgeport, January 27th, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Lewis J. Long.

Briggs-Barbarg. On Saturday evening at the parsonage of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rev. George H. Welch, united in marriage Calvin L. Briggs of this city and Miss Annie Barbour of Plainfield. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Briggs. Mr. and Mrs. Briggs will make their home in Norwich.

It is noted that this Florida city issued 110 building permits for the month of January, which was the largest number ever issued, and that a tourist population of 60,000 is predicted for this year. The season is scarcely two weeks old but already 20,000 tourists are registered.

Led Central Baptist Young People. At the meeting of the R. Y. P. U. of the Central Baptist church Sunday evening the Rev. J. H. Welch presided. The discussion was on "The Discovery of Christ." Preceding the meeting there was a short social session.

TWO RAIDS ON CLUB ON SAME NIGHT

The Hon. Ton Social club, a colored organization with club rooms just west of the second bridge on West Main street, has the distinction of being raided twice within two hours' time. The police had information that the club was being conducted as a gambling joint and a squad raided the place Saturday night. As a result of the second raid nine colored men, all alleged to be members of the club, will appear in the city court this (Monday) morning to answer to the charge of gambling.

The first raid, which was pulled off about 10 o'clock Saturday night, failed to yield any evidence of gambling, but the police had information that the club was being conducted as a gambling joint and a squad raided the place Saturday night. As a result of the second raid nine colored men, all alleged to be members of the club, will appear in the city court this (Monday) morning to answer to the charge of gambling.

There are two doors leading to the club. The first door, which is on the west side of the building, was kept locked and the police had to break through the door to get into the club room proper when a member of the club desired admittance. When the bell rings the inside door is opened and the person waiting outside is identified through a window in the outside door.

The first squad of police gained admittance through the outside door and rushed through the inside door. But those in the room were evidently on the alert, for when the police got into the room there was not the slightest evidence of any gambling.

About midnight the second squad, in charge of Sgt. Allen C. Matthews, raided the club. The police gained admittance through a window in the room and then, gaining admittance to the club room, arrested those found there.

At the police station the nine men found in the place gave the following names:

James Wilbur, 31; Peter S. Frost, 33; Delaware Howard, 41; Homer E. Peckham, 26; George L. Lacy, 32; Cornelius Dennis, 23; Walter Dandorff, Brooklyn, Conn., 37; George Simonds, 29. All are out on bonds.

The squad of police making the arrests comprised Sgt. C. Matthews, and Officers Donovan, Dumbrosky, Farrell and Murphy.

PUTS ON FINISHING TOUCHES IN THEIR FINAL REHEARSAL The final rehearsal of the musical comedy, Oh, Oh, Cindy, to be presented this (Monday) afternoon and evening at the Davis theatre by the girls of the Community Center, was held on Sunday afternoon.

The rehearsal took place on the stage of the Davis theatre the entire cast being present. Everything was in clockwork and the stage committee in charge is confident that the performance will be one of the finest and most successful amateur productions ever staged locally.

The cast, which numbers about 200 men, girls and children, was somewhat handicapped during the rehearsal at the theatre Sunday afternoon owing to the fact that the electric light power was shut off from 2 until 5 o'clock because of repairs to wires on a pole on Broadway.

At the close of the evening performance tonight a large number of those in the cast will go to the Wauregan house where the Wauregan management has arranged to give a party to the cast.

The list of patrons and patronesses is as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Loring, Mrs. J. H. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Germon, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Chase, Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Richards, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. PITTSBURGH CONCERT HEARD HERE BY WIRELESS Lewis Smith of 9 Washington street entertained a number of friends Friday evening at a lecture and photograph concert. The unique part of the affair was that the concert and lecture were heard in Pittsburgh, Pa., but those present at Mr. Smith's home were able to hear it. Mr. Smith has a wireless telephone outfit at his home and it was through this that possible he heard distinctly the concert and the lecture. The experiment was under the auspices of the Westinghouse Electrical Company. At the sending station there was a photograph which played several numbers and then there was a short lecture on wireless telephony by one of the specialists of the Westinghouse company. Mr. Smith's outfit outfit is the only one made and works well.
